Killarney Provincial Park Lake and Portage Descriptions

CARLYLE LAKE ACCESS POINT, Killarney Provincial Park

About your route:

Killarney Provincial Park (KPP) offers dramatic scenery and a variety of routes for the novice to experienced paddler. The Carlyle Lake area is a favorite for many visitors because of its easy access to other lakes in the park. Carlyle is centrally located and makes for a great starting point when head east or west!

To estimate tripping times we use an average paddling time of 3-4 km/hour (this will vary depending on the group's experience and weather). Please keep in mind that camping on sites in KPP is first come, first serve; a spot on a specific lake is reserved, not a specific site. The following is an outline of the trip; please let us know if there are any questions about this route.

Getting started:

The Carlyle access point is located on the north side of Hwy 637, 50km west of the Hwy 69 junction and 10km east of the main gate at George Lake. Reservations for Carlyle must be obtained from the park's main office at George Lake. Unlike most other lakes in the area, Carlyle allows access to motor boats but this is restricted to cottage residents. The access road is only a few hundred meters long; park here during the trip, but make sure to put a parking permit in the vehicle.
